

THE GEORGETOWN LAW JOURNAL

The Georgetown Law Journal, recognizing the Georgetown University Law Center's commitment to expanding study abroad opportunities for its students, and recognizing the need to ensure that Law Journal members are, to the greatest degree possible, given the opportunity to participate in these programs, adopts the following policy:

(1) Any 3L member who wishes to participate in the Law Center's study abroad program may only do so upon agreeing to and abiding by the following restrictions:

(A) the member cannot hold the position of (i) Editor in Chief, (ii) ARCP Editor in Chief, (iii) Managing Editor, (iv) ARCP Managing Editor, (v) any "Senior Editor" level position (defined as an editorial position conferring Senior Board status as understood under Article IV.A. of The Georgetown Law Journal Constitution), including, but not limited to, Senior Administrative Editor, Senior Articles Editor, Senior Notes Editor, Senior Special Projects Editor, and Senior Symposium Editor, or (vi) any "Executive Editor" level position, including, but not limited to, Executive Editor, Executive Administrative Editor, Executive Articles Editor, and Executive Notes Editor;

(B) the member must agree in writing, pursuant to language drafted by the Senior Board, to complete all work by all deadlines assigned by her or his committee head;

(C) the member must obtain prior approval from the Editor in Chief, who will consult with the Senior Board prior to granting such approval; and

(D) the Law Center has provided the teleconferencing equipment and other technology necessary to enable the Law Journal (and other Law Center journals similarly situated) to communicate effectively with its members participating in the study abroad program.

(2) The Law Journal does not currently have the necessary technology or work-delegation structure to permit 2Ls to be Law Journal members and also to participate in the Law Center's study abroad program. The Senior Board commits to evaluating these capabilities on an annual basis, and expresses its interest in working with the Law Center to obtain the necessary technological capabilities to make this possible. Thus, as of the 2006-2007 academic year, 2Ls will only be permitted to participate in the study abroad program on a case-by-case basis at the discretion of the Senior Board, which must approve such requests by majority vote.
